South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freshest Advices Foreign and Domestick.

FROM SATURDAY October 10, to SATURDAY October 17, 1741.

PETERSBURGH, June 13.

MR. Bestucheff, our Minister at Stockholm, has sent Advice by an Express, that the prevailing Party in the Dyet of Sweden have again so strongly insisted upon declaring War against Russia, that there is hardly any Room to doubt but that the Swedes will soon begin Hostilities by Sea and Land. On the Receipt of this News the Court order'd 24 Battalions to march into Ingermania with all possible Diligence. It is said that the Court has also resolv'd to send an Express to Hanover and London, to demand the 12 Men of War which the British Court has engaged to furnish Russia with.

We have likewise receiv'd Advice, that the Swedish Fleet, consisting of 26 Sail of Men of War, Frigates, Fire-ships and Bomb-Ketches, has been seen near Katchaer between Revel and Hochland, and that they stop all Vessels passing that Way, but let them proceed on their Voyage after taking Provisions from them, which they pay them ready Money for.

We have actually 70 Gallies at Cronstadt ready to put to Sea.

A Report is spread that the Swedes having attempted to build a Fort on the Frontiers of Finland, were hindered by our Troops.

Breslau, June 23. Since the Prussian Army's Arrival at Hermsdorf, the Veldt-Marshal Count Neuperg has order'd several Detachments to repass the Neiss. The 16th Instant there was a sharp Rencontre between the Prussian and Austrian Hussars, which lasted above an Hour, but the latter were forced to leave the Field of Battle to the Prussians: About Four Hundred Men were kill'd on both Sides.

Breslau, June 24. According to the last Advices from Silesia, the King's Army, which actually encamps at Hermsdorf near Streeben, has been reinforced by Narzmer's Regiment of Hussars, and expects to be joined forthwith by Bronikowski and Bandemer's Regiments of Hussars, and also by 20 Squadrons of Dragoons coming from Prussia. Those Advices add, that Recruits daily arrive there from divers Places, and that the Cavalry is in excellent Order. We don't know what the King's Views are in going to encamp at Streeben, which is equally distant from Breslau, the Austrian Army, and the Frontiers of Bohemia: However, the general opinion is, that his Majesty intends thereby to draw the Enemy on this side of the Neiss.

Hanover, June 27. Yesterday Morning a Courier arrived here from Mr. Finch, the King's Minister at Petersburg; with Dispatches which are said to be of the greatest Importance: Half an Hour after the King sent for Major-General Ilten, who, after a short Conference with his Majesty, returned Home directly to get his Equipage ready, and set out immediately; but we do not yet know whether he is gone. The King also conferred with his Ministers and other Generals: A Report is since spread that the Troops of this Electorate are to begin their March forthwith, and that his Majesty intends to put himself at the Head of them.

The Count de Truchses, the Prussian Minister, sets out for Silesia the 24th Instant.

According to our Advices from Munich, the Elector of Bavaria having heard that the Serene Archduchess of Austria and Great Duchess of Tuscany had resolv'd to get herself crown'd Queen of Hungary by the States of that Kingdom, in Quality of Hereditary Princess and Queen, pursuant to the Pragmatick Sanction, which his Electoral Highness never acknowledg'd, but on the contrary, always oppos'd on every Occasion, he has thought proper to explain himself on this Head in a Declaration wherein 'He solemnly protests against that Princess's Coronation as illegal, reserving to himself and his Family the Rights that belong to them, and not doubting but that the States of Hungary, when they have carefully examin'd those Rights, will acknowledge the Pragmatick Sanction, which they accepted in the Year 1723, has no Manner of Foundation; and that the House of Bavaria preserves an indisputable Right to that Kingdom, as having receiv'd it of the Kings of Hungary themselves, &c.

Some Advices from Petersburg say, that that Court has resolv'd to furnish in Money the Contingent of Troops which she is bound by Treaty to send to the Assistance of the House of Austria.

From Hamburg we hear, that the Danish Troops in British Pay, receiv'd Orders to begin their March on the 30th Instant.

Turin, July 5. The Joy occasion'd by the Birth of the Duke of Chablais has prov'd but of short Duration, and has given Place to a general Consternation and Grief, on Account of the Queen of Sardinia's Death, which happened at the Venerie on Monday Morning the 3d Instant, after eleven Days Illness of a malignant Fever. The King of Sardinia with the Duke of Savoy, immediately retired to Chartreuse about three Miles from hence, and the young Princes and Princesses were all brought to this Place. The Funeral will performed in the Cathedral Church of this City To Morrow Night. His Sardinian Majesty is under great Concern, and the Court is ordered to go into the closest Mourning.

Venice, July 1. The Day before Yesterday the Chevalier Peter Grimani, Procurator of St. Mark, was unanimously elected Doge of this Republick, in the Room of the late Mr. Louis Pisani.

Hamburg, June 9. They write from Copenhagen, that the Master of several Ships from Revel, report, that about the End of last Month they met near the Castle Dagercoot, situated in the Isle of Dago, a small Distance from the Coasts of Livonia, a Squadron of 14 Swedish Ships, which were making their Route, as they thought, towards Frederick's Haven.

B O S T O N, July 27.

On Thursday the 17th Instant two young Gentlemen belonging to Ipswich, riding to a Place call'd Castle Neck Beach in said Town, situated near the Mouth of the River, met with a labouring Man who told them he would show them a Rarity; and immediately carried them about half a Mile, to a large Sand Bank, and upon entering his Hoe discovered a Quantity of Snow congeal'd to an Ice; and after a diligent Survey, they modestly computed the whole (as far as their Discoveries extended) to contain many Hundreds of Cart Loads, and the whole Mass near Four Foot thick. The Gentlemen out of Curiosity bro't a Specimen of it to Town in a Bag, and in Conveyance it wasted but little, but in its dissolving yielding a Gallon of Water, out of which they (with some others curious Spectators) made a Bowl of Punch, and drank with warm Hearts the noble Admiral VERNON's Health.

August 10. On Saturday last his Majesty's Ship Portland, Capt. Hawke Commander, arrived here from Barbados to refit. As the said Ship is fully mann'd, the Capt. has publicly declared, that he will not impress any Men during his stay here.

The same Day our Province Snow, Capt. Tyng, came in from a Cruise.

Last Wednesday the Hon. William Sherley, Esq; receiv'd his Majesty's Royal Commission, constituting and appointing him Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over this his Majesty's Province, and on Friday about Eleven o'Clock in the Forenoon, his Honour was attended by his Majesty's Council, the Hon. House of Representatives, the Civil Officers, and a great Number of other Gentlemen, at his Seat in Newbury street, from whence they walk'd in Procession 'till they came over-against the Province House, where they were join'd by our late Governor Belcher, and then they proceeded to the Council Chamber (being guarded by the Troop of Guards, and Col. Winslow's Regiment of Militia) where the new Commission being read and the usual Oaths administered, his Excellency took the Chair, and immediately caused a Proclamation to be published for continuing all Officers Civil and Military in their respective Trusts.

August 31. By a Vessel which arrived last Monday from Swansea in Wales, we hear, that in their Passage 100 Leagues from the Lands End, they met with an English Man of War of 40 Guns, bound Home, which had taken and was then carrying in Two Spanish Privateers, one of which was a Ship of 30 Guns, the other smaller. A Rhode-Island Vessel, which had been out a long Time, was then under Convoy of the said Man of War.

September 14. We hear by Capt. Fullerton who arrived here on Friday last in 18 Days from Antigua, that several Store ships bound for Jamaica, and some Merchant-Men, making in all about Twenty sail, under Convoy of Two 60 Gun Men of War, passed by that Island 2 or 3 Days before he sail'd, and that they stopp'd at St. Christophers to water.

Province Town in New England, August 22. This Day a Man belonging to this Town discovered on the Back of the Cape, a very large Quantity of Snow buried under the Sand, and it is judged by most People that a considerable Part of it will lye there undissolv'd till another Year at least.

WILLIAMSBURG,

August 28. Last Saturday was Se'night a very heavy Rain fell, which extended all over the Country; and at Night was attended with sharp Lightning and Thunder, and a high Wind; which has done vast Damage, by shattering a great deal of Tobacco to Pieces, and levelling a-bundance of Corn with the Ground. The Accounts we have from almost all Parts of the Country, are very dismal, especially the upper Parts; from whence they write, that in one Night's Time, the Creeks and Rivers, which were before very low, were so suddenly swell'd by the Rain, that they overflow'd their Banks, laid the low Lands, and every Thing growing upon them, under Water, destroying thereby vast Quantities of Corn and Tobacco, especially the latter; that many Mills and Bridges were broke down by the Rapidity of the Floods; and that in general, there was such a Devastation, as has not been parallel'd, in this Country, since the terrible Gust, about 17 Years ago. Since that Time, we have had some Rain almost every Day, which has utterly spoil'd great Quantities of Tobacco, both Hou'd, and on the Ground. But in most Places there is yet a Prospect of a tolerable good Crop of Corn.

P H I L A D E L P H I A,

August 6. Most of the Ships that were employ'd in transporting the Troops of this Province to Jamaica, are return'd; by whom we have Advice that Fifteen Sail of the largest Men of War are ordered home, in order to be refitted.

August 20. Yesterday arrived here Capt. Lester Falconar from St. Kitts, having been taken by a Spanish Privateer on the 3d Instant, in Lat 33 and since cast away at our Capes in a Vessel the Spaniards had given him to come here in; He says, that the Day he was taken, they took a Vessel from Aberdeen for Cape Fear, and a Day or two after a Vessel from Barbados bound to this Place, the Captain named Ewers; they had also a Schooner which they said they took within Sight of the Virginia Station Ship; she was bound from this Place to Cape Fear: He also says, that the Captain of the Privateer is a very Gentleman-like Man, and used them very well.

MART:

Mr. Timothy,

I FIND the Rev. Mr. Smith hath as small a Talent for Reasoning as he has for Railery; and that the One is as far out of his Power as the Other. When he complained that I had perverted and misquoted the Words of his Sermon, I restored him his own Expressions again, and thought that as ample a Satisfaction as any reasonable Man could desire; but some Folks, I find, are like Children, who, when you rob 'em of a Bauble or a Play Thing, set-up a Crying and Bawling, and tho' you shou'd restore it, will still continue pteevish and froward. I know not whether he or the greatest Dunce, in his Northern Colledge, can see the Consequence I had fastned upon him; but sure I am that a greater Dunce than even Dr. Chip or any of his Northern Brethren, who can distinguish an Antecedent from a Consequent, may see that this acute and accurate Reasoner hath absolutely and entirely changed the State of the Question: For, the Point in Controversy with me was not, whether Christ died for many or a few, but whether he died for all or some; now, the several Texts I had produced expressly assure us, that Christ died for the whole World, for all Men and every Man in that World; whereas this Rev. Divine had published it as one Article of his Creed, that Christ died only for a certain determinate Number and no other, which must certainly be an exclusive Phrase; wherefore I endeavour'd to represent this Notion peculiar to him and the Predicamentarians as antiscritptural and absurd. It is indeed, somewhat surprizing, that so fair a Disputant should not take the least Notice of the full Retribution I had made him, but still persist in cavilling about the Words many and few, which were not in Debate, instead of attempting either to defend his own Words, and no others, or at least to explain away the Force and Meaning of those three Texts I had objected against them. Neither is it less surprizing, that so keen a Controversialist should be discouraged from writing any farther, by the present Temper and Spirit which reign in the Gazette; since he must know who set the first Example of such a malevolent and contentious Temper and Spirit, and that in a State so animated and exalted, as scorning the narrow Boundaries of Reason and Common Sense, to soar and ex-patiate itself in the Super-sterial Regions of Fancy, Error and Chimera.

PHILARETES.

ROMANS 3. viii. — We be slanderously reported. —

Pfalm 7. xiv, xv, xvi, xvii. Isaiah 8. ix, x. Luke 6. xxii, xxiii.

Mr. Timothy,

AS I never made any Use of your Press hitherto as you well know; so neither should I have done it now, but that Justice to my abused Character both as a Christian and as a Minister among such where I am not personally known, did require it: And that those who without Cause are mine Enemies, might not overmuch triumph as having by their united Forces, obtain'd a Victory over one who in their own Esteem is at best no more than an Infans et Isipiens Homo. These are the plain Reasons, wherefore I did not pass over their whole Procedure with Silence and Contempt, as some would have had me done. What Pains these Postscript Writers have taken to draw me out of Obscurity, and to paint me out as a Spectacle to the World and as the Off-scouring of all Things (1 COR. 4. ix, xiii.) I need not say; nor how much of their professed Equity, Learning, Gentility, Humanity and Charity they have shewn in their Treatment of me, when upon a bare Suspicion, they directly, and most unjustly proceeded to a publick Charge and Accusation against me, that I was the Author of the Paper signed Zealot the Second, and then upon that false Supposition and Charge, loaded me with Heaps of abusive Language, where-with their Papers do abound. Is this the Charity that thinks no Evil? Are these their rational Regards to that eternal Rule of Equity, that teacheth that whatsoever we would that Men should do unto us even so to do unto them? Or, is this their Method of acting the part of the Gentleman, the Christian and the Scholar, if I may be admitted soberly to reason the Case with these Writers in their cool Moments? If such kind of Treatment were to pass current in Imitation of their Example, what Man living, altho' ever so innocent and peaceable, could remain long secured in his good Name? By this Spect-men of their Procedure the observant Reader will not be at a Loss, how to judge of the rest of their Charges and Insinuations against me. I shall neither envy them the Honour they will get thereby, nor imitate them therein. I shall not render reviling for reviling, but commit my Cause both in part and in whole unto him who cannot be deceived, who will not be mocked, and who will not fail to judge righteous Judgment. ROM. 12. xix. with DEUT. 32. xxxv. 2 COR. 5. x. referro Causam meam ad Deum justum. For verily there is a God who judgeth in the Earth. But that I may put it beyond all Doubt with every sober and impartial Reader, that the abovesaid Charge and Accusation against me is most unjust; I do hereby publicly declare to the World that I was not the Author of the Paper signed Zealot the second. That I never had, more or less, directly or indirectly, any Hand therein; that I neither composed, nor wrote it, either in whole or in part myself, nor excited any one thereunto, either by Line or Word or Circumstance. And since it is so; as I need not, so I shall not trouble myself with making any further Reply, either unto that or unto the rest of their false Charges, infamous, uncharitable Insinuations and abusive Language. Only so far, that I shall conclude with reminding PHILARETES, of his Confession, viz. That he hath done those Things which he ought NOT to have done and of his Petition, (in which I heartily join) That God may be merciful unto him a SINNER, (not forgetting his Confederates) and of his
